About Me

Successful management and development of an online store with more than 15 years of experience.
I'm quickly getting into JavaScript and React.
The passion which I have for information technology and the skills that I gained, gave me confidence that this would be the way to go which I have to take over.
I am looking for a position as a Front-End JavaScript / React developer for further career development.
With my extensive experience and the successes I have achieved, I am confident in my ability to achieve quality results and help improve the future company.
